It would be both in bad taste and discover a lack of modesty to say much about "quality" at Washington now, as the crown doesn't endure to every generation; and Pres. Walton always proclaims that we are the best in the world, but we trust we shall be pardoned in this connection if we mention the taste and quality of the Daisy New Orleans Molasses that Taylor sells at 50¢ per gallon, neither or which may be improved upon.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the judgment of the Kenton Circuit Court in the case of the Covington and Cincinnati Bridge Company against JAMES T. GOODNOUGH. The action grew out of the remodeling of the bridge of appellant in 1898. GOODNOUGH was injured and sued for $10,000. He received judgment for $9,000. The reversal is because the verdict was not justified by the evidence. The late WILLIAM GOEBEL represented the appellee; and WILLIE was the lad to "fix" things when a corporation was on one side and he had a fee of 50 or 60% of the amount recovered on the other.

The notorious Goebel Law, which has been directly responsible for all of Kentucky's political trouble during the past two years, passed out of existence Sunday, and the new law adopted at the special meeting of the Legislature last fall has taken its place.

Now that the hated Goebel Law is actually stricken from the statute books all Kentuckians will breathe easier. While the new law is a great improvement over it, there is still much left to be desired in the way of an honest election law for Kentucky.

From the passage of the Goebel Law to its final passing away, every recent act of political lawlessness committed in Kentucky is directly traceable to it.

Indispensable Press. "Do you think," remarked the caller, "that the moon really has any influence?"

Williamsburg, Ky., Jan. 24—Another tragedy has been enacted in this county in the killing of John Chandler at Pine Knot. Chandler, with Riddell Phillips, a man named Young and several others, were in "blind tiger" and quarreled. Chandler and friends retreated from the place, leaving Young and Phillips in side.

Threats to kill were made, and Phillips called to Chandler to know where he was. The latter replied with an oath that he was waiting for Phillips to appear. Phillips did so, armed with a revolver, which he is charged, he leveled at the spot where Chandler's voice came and fired, killing his man.

A fusilage followed, after which Phillips and Young fled to Tennessee. Both were indicted for murder.

Happenings in Kentucky
THE TRIENNIAL CONCLAVE.

President McKinley Will Be Invited to Attend the Grand Encampment at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 24.—Mayor James W. Wood, Col. T. H. Baker and Harry T. Jefferson started for Washington Wednesday night to carry to President McKinley a message from the executive committee of the 28th triennial conclave, in Knights Templar, inviting him to the grand encampment in Louisville August 27-30. The invitation is handmolded on vellum and signed by Chairman C. C. Vogt and Secretary Thomas C. Timberlake, of the executive committee.

The committee hopes for the acceptance of the invitation on the part of the president because the celebration falls at a period generally in a measure free from official duties and because President McKinley is a mason and a Knight Templar. The entrance of Mr. McKinley into the Knights' hall is to be a unique feature that will make it unusual. He was an officer of the federal army at the time and was stationed at Winchester, Va. One day while he was passing through a regimental hospital at Winchester he noticed a federal surgeon who was a mason and a Knight Templar. The surgeon was a man of great personal popularity and it was an honor to have him as a guest.

The records of Hirman Lodge No. 21, A. F. and A. M., of Winchester, Va., show that he took his first degree on May 1, 1865, and became a master mason on May 3. Only men now are members who were present at the time. They are W. D. George, D. G. Jenkins, of Winchester, Va. The president was a member of Canton commandery No. 38, of Ohio Knights Templar, which he joined December 23, 1884.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY.

Guided By His Opponent's Voice. He Fired And It Is Alleged Killed Chandler.

CONVINCING PROOF.

The Average Maysville Citizen Must Accept the Following Proof.

The great Sir Isaac Newton, one of the most profound reasoners the world ever produced, once cut a large hole in a board fence to allow a favorite cat access to two gardens and cut a smaller hole to allow her kitten to follow her. The weakness manifested in Sir Isaac's action was due to want of thought. Any reader who mentally debates the proof offered here about Doan's Kidney Pills is as short of reasoning powers as the philosopher when he turned carpet: The will of the late Charles Blits of Newport was admitted to probate Monday at that place. He bequeathed all his property to his wife and named her executrix.

The properties of Ballard's Snow Liniment are to be sold at public auction—any other remedy. A dozen salves pass in every household, especially in the country, and the price is not needed.

The Report of the Valentine Peers Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution deserves a full meeting of the Daughters at her house on Saturday, January 26th, at 2 o'clock. Besides the usual day for the coming Congress there is important business needing the attention of every Daugher. Please all come.

HE TOOK THE OATH

It Was Administered to King Edward VII by the Lord Chancellor.

PRIVY COUNCIL SWEARS ALLEGIANCE

His Majesty Issues a Formal Proclamation to Officers and Persons in Authority in His Domains.

Funeral Services Over the Dead Queen—The Remains Will Probably Not Be Removed From Osborne For Ten Days.

Proclaimed King.

London, Jan. 24.—King Edward was proclaimed king of Great Britain and emperor of India in the St. James' palace at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

London, Jan. 24.—King Edward received the privy council at 2 o'clock Wednesday, and the council, including the royal dukes and distinguished nobles of the kingdom, awaited the king in the throne room. The king entered an adjoining room, and then the duke of Devonshire, lord president of the council, went through the formality of acquainting the councilors that the king was dead and that the prince of Wales succeeded her. The royal dukes, with the lords of the council, then repaired to the private apartment of the lord president.

The king then entered the council chamber and made a brief speech. The King's Speech.

The following is the full text of His Majesty's accession speech:

"Your Royal Highnesses, My Lords and Gentlemen: This is the most joyful and welcome occasion which can be called upon to address you. My first and melancholy duty is to announce to you the death of my beloved mother, the queen, and I know how deeply you and the whole nation, and I think I may say the whole world, sympathize with me in the irreparable loss we have sustained. You will have seen that my constant endeavor will be always to stand in her footsteps.

"In undertaking the heavy load which now devolves upon me I am fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense of the word, and so long as we are the breath in my body to work for the good and welfare of my people."

"Takes Name of Edward."—

"I have resolved to be known by the name of Edward, which has been borne by six of my ancestors. In doing so I do not undervalue the name of Albert, which I inherit from my ever-to-be-lamented, great and wise father, who by universal consent is, I think, deservedly known by the name of Albert. I shall, however, desire that his name should stand alone."

"In conclusion, I trust to partake and the nation to support me in the arduous duties which now devolve upon me by inheritance and by which I am determined to devote my whole strength during the remainder of my life."

"Immediately afterward the oath was administered to the king by the lord chancellor, and then the members of the council took the oath of allegiance to the new sovereign. After this they passed in turn before the king, kissed his hand and withdrew. This concluded the ceremony.

Proclamation Issued.

An extraordinary issue of the Gazette Thursday morning, which appears with a very bold and prominent title, "The Death of Queen Victoria," then follows the proclamation of Edward VII, the acknowledgment of allegiance by the privy council and the king's speech at his accession. After giving a list of those who attended the council, the Gazette announces that the king subscribed to the oath relating to the service of the church of England, and concluded with the king's formal proclamation ordering all officers and persons in authority throughout his dominions to continue to exercise their offices during the royal pleasure, and exhorting his subjects to aid and assist such officers in the performance and execution of their duties.

Movements of the King.

The king remained in London over night at 10 Downing street, Buckingham palace, after taking the oath of the privy council, and dined there with the duchess of Albany. Subsequently he went to Marlborough house to sleep. He returned to Osborne Thursday morning to direct the funeral arrangements. These were discussed at a meeting of the authorities in the royal household at Buckingham palace Wednesday evening. At the college of arms it was said that the date of the funeral could not be settled until it was known when the European royalties or their representatives could arrive, but that the function would be held at the earliest possible date for the convenience of Emperor William, whose stay in England might be unavoidably limited.

Heads For Royal Visitors.

Buckingham palace is made ready for the royal persons who are arriving in London. Representatives of all the royal families in Europe will probably be present at the funeral, including the kings of Italy, Belgium and Greece, the crown prince of Germany and Prussia, and the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria. All the European courts will go into mourning for various periods.

Emperor William and Princess Louise (the duchess of Argyll) walked to Whippingham church Wednesday afternoon.

It is learned that the king assumed the title of Edward VII at the express wish of his mother.

The New Prince of Wales.

Contrary to general opinion, the duke of York does not at once become prince of Wales through the accession of his father. The title of prince of Wales becomes merged in the sovereignty, but the king will exercise his prerogative and confer the title of prince of Wales upon his son. The new king was born November 9, 1841, but he was only created prince of Wales on the following December 4. There have been six royal princes who have never been created prince of Wales. However, the duke of York becomes at once duke of Cornwall, and the duchess of Cornwall, the lady of Wales, becomes a princess royal, as this capacity is created by the law in much the same way as the mother of a queen consort.

Service for the Dead.

Coves, Isle of Wight, Jan. 24.—At 11 o'clock Thursday morning the members of the royal family gathered around the body of the late queen, which lies in a simple casket, which is surrounded with red and white hangings. The bishop of Winchester, standing before an altar, removed for the occasion from the private chapel, read a portion of the service for the dead. The coffin rests on a specially erected platform draped with royal purple, the feet lying to the east. The head faces the south. Over the features is a thin veil.

For a few hours after the conclusion of the service the public was admitted to the room and allowed to view the remains of the sovereign who so long reigned over them. The body will rest there until Sunday, and it is probable that no removal will occur for ten days.

IN CANADA.

The Governor General and the Minister Took the Oath of Allegiance to King Edward VII.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 24.—At a cabinet meeting on Wednesday the governor and the ministers took the oath of allegiance. Chief justice of the supreme court administered the oath to the governor general, who in turn administered it to his ministers. The usual procedure was followed. Edward VII signed and made his appointment of those in office, was issued. The day of the queen's funeral will be named as one of general mourning in Canada. The entrance to the parliament buildings will be draped in black.

American Expression of Sympathy.

London, Jan. 24.—Many farewells are made by the afternoon papers to the American expressions of sympathy.

"The honor paid to the memory of the queen by the president of the United States is one that should live in the memories of all who have been present. The two great English-speaking countries. There are hidden recesses, perhaps, even in so great a sorrow as ours of to-day."

A CONFLAGRATION.

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed in Business Portion of Montreal.

FLAMES RAGED FOR SEVERAL HOURS.

The Big Board of Trade Building, Erected Eight Years Ago, Costing $600,000, in Ruins.

The Destruction Was Particularly Large Among the Wholesale Houses in the Heart of the Canadian City.

Montreal, P. Q., Jan. 24.—Fire started at 8:05 in the premises of M. Schillings, who makes clothing on the corner of Langelin and St. Peter streets. The fire apparently had a good headway before the first alarm was sent in. The firemen, on arriving, found the building, a three story stone structure, a mass of flames, the fire having apparently started in the roof. The flames rushed up the elevator shaft in the center of the store.

Before the nearest reinforcements reached the scene, the flames had leaped across St. Peter street, which is very narrow at this point, and attacked the big five story stone building occupied by H. A. Nelson & Sons Co., fancy goods, etc. Here it spread rapidly, and had in the Saxe building.

In almost the instant it seemed as if almost the entire building was a roaring furnace.

A Whole Block on Fire.

The warehouse of Bardmore & Co., tanners, next to Nelson's on the south, was then attacked, and from there the flames communicated to the establishment of Silverman, Boulter & Co., wholesale hatters and furriers. Here another important block addition.

In almost the instant it seemed as if the entire building was a mass of flames on either side.

ROASTED THE MARSHAL.

But she followed him out, and, calling her companions, proceeded to give the marshal a blistering arraignment in the presence of the crowd. She then started for the other saloon, which was well barricaded and offered no plate glass for her to attack.

The marshal, however, had no time to chop down the doors, and she finally went home with her companions. She said she had only begun her work, and expects to clean out many more places. It was reported that she would move on Abilene Thursday, and the Abilene saloon men are preparing for her coming.

RETURNING VOLUNTEERS.

War Department Doing What Can to Expedite Their Home-Coming From the Philippines.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The war department is doing what it can to expedite the home coming of the 9,000 volunteers in the Philippines whom Gen. MacArthur reported could be spared at once without impairing the efficiency of the army. There has been considerable difficulty in getting these troops owing to the difficulty of getting them to Manila, the point of embarkation, and at the same time getting other troops to the garrison thus vacated. Gen. MacArthur has reported that he needs at least 60,000 men for the numerous garrisons at various points of the archipelago and the 9,000 troops already home are in excess of that number.

Thirty-Seventh Infantry on the Way.

The army has been increased to the extent of the troops transferred from China. The arrival of these fresh troops permitted the return to the United States of an equal number of volunteers whose terms of service had nearly expired.

The 37th volunteer infantry, which had been delayed in the Philippines, started home on the Sheridan and the 36th volunteer infantry are at Manila awaiting immediate transportation. It is expected that the last train will leave for the United States on the 28th on the Indians and that the 11th cavalry or some other regiment will follow on the 29th and the Meade on the 30th.

The transport Kentucky arrived at Manila Wednesday.

Spared Both East and West.

When the rear wall of this building was reached it was seen that the board of trade would have to go.

Solid Sheets of Flame.

When the rear wall of this building was reached it was seen that the board of trade would have to go.

Solid Sheets of Flame sprang out and up and seized hold of the big building in a dozen different places, driving the firemen back.

The newer and more modern structures built more recently than those which already had fallen prey to the flames, but the firemen could not stanch the march of the devouring element.

By this time every piece of fire-fighting apparatus the city possessed was in use. Two water towers which had failed to keep the blaze out of the board of trade building were shifted around to St. Paul street, and the Abilene saloon men are preparing for her coming.

At 12:30 it looked as if the building might be saved.

The flames were checked at 1 o'clock Thursday morning after between 100,000 and 120,000 feet of timber had been destroyed. The fire is still burning, but the firemen have it apparently under control.

The weather was cold, and the firemen were greatly hampered in this respect.

She arrived Wednesday morning from Wichita and went to the home of C. B. Hoffman, popular leader. A temperance meeting was held at the house Wednesday afternoon, attended by a dozen or more women.

Mrs. Nation, armed with a hatchet, then started for the business part of the town, accompanied by Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. L. A. Case, a leading W. C. T. U. worker, and another woman who was veiled. The saloon keeper had locked up their places and were not sighted.

Used Her Hatchet.

Mrs. Nation went to Schillings' place. She broke the glass door and stepped into the deserted place, leaving the others outside. She broke the big mirror, chopped glasses in the bar and broke all the glasses and bottles on the shelves. Then she went to the refrigerator and completely brought it down on the floor. She knocked them on the floor and I knocked each bottle left standing.

The floor was soon covered with a mixture of drinkables. She kept up the work until Marshal W. R. Behan finally entered and, taking her by the sleeve, told her she must get out.

The marshal, however, had no time to chop down the doors, and she finally went home with her companions. She said she had only begun her work, and expects to clean out many more places. It was reported that she would move on Abilene Thursday, and the Abilene saloon men are preparing for her coming.

SYRUP OF FIGS

Never imitated in quality.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., etc., illustrate the value of retaining the laxative principles of plants known to be medicinal, laxative, and tonic, and combining them in a way that is pleasant to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system internally, digesting the bowels and feces, and yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently.

It is perfect, strong, and safe, and in fact, a perfect laxative.

It is a perfect laxative.
